Auction Rules & Guide Lines

Commission

Commission will be set at 15% all Auction profit will go to ASAS to help pay for the show

Lots

The starting bid for all Lots will be 50p unless the reserve price is higher. Bids will then increase in increments of 50p up to £5.00. when bids will increase in increments of £1.00

Multiple lots

Where there are multiple lots of the same item the bidding will start at the last winning bid or the reserve whichever is greater

Welfare

The welfare of all livestock offered for sale is of paramount importance. This includes fish shrimps and snails. Please ensure that all livestock is healthy prior to sale and correctly bagged. Bags must be of a suitable size and grade. In particular cichlids, catfish and loaches should be double-bagged. In the interests of welfare we reserve the right to remove unsuitable lots from the auction. Lots should be transported and sold from suitable polystyrene or insulated boxes. The boxes may remain the property of the seller or be offered for sale. If fish are bagged the night before the auction it is imperative that they are maintained at a suitable temperature. There should be sufficient air space in the bags or containers.

Non-native plants

Where plants are offered that are known to cause problems in the natural environment the sale will be refused.

CITES listings

We will not knowingly accept any livestock for sale that is included on any CITES listing.

Tank Busters

The auctioneer reserves the right not to sell any fish that are deemed to be tank-busting species.

Labelling & Lot Numbers

On arrival sellers will be asked how many lots they have & given the appropriate numbered stickers the description of each lot along with its number must be clearly shown on both sides of the auction entry form & auctioneers copy returned to the auctioneer. Lots offered for sale MUST be clearly and correctly labelled. Sellers should take special care to ensure that the correct lot numbers are adhered to their items.

Tanks & Equipment.

Tanks & Equipment will be offered on a sold as seen basis and must have the vendors name, address, and telephone number securely attached.
